Un grito de socorro desde Juárez (Spanish Edition) Arsene Van Nierop-Seippens

"Entre la infinidad de historias de las que el mundo actual dispone, la de Hester van Nierop, por lo que implica el contraste de una vida plena enfrentada a la crueldad más atroz, está llamada a perdurar."

SERGIO GONZÁLEZ RODRÍGUEZ, autor de Huesos en el desierto.

Hester tenía 28 años de edad en julio de 1998. Vivía con su familia en Holanda: Roeland y Arsène, sus padres; Melisse y Germán, sus hermanos. Partió hacia México semanas después de graduarse en arquitectura para encontrarse con Melisse, quien participaba en un proyecto de protección de tortugas en la costa del Pacífico. Su plan consistía en viajar posteriormente a Estados Unidos para buscar un trabajo temporal. De manera casi inexplicable, decidió hacerlo a través de la peligrosa Ciudad Juárez. Nadie imaginó que las palabras de despedida de sus padres serían las últimas que le dirían: "Adiós, Hester, cuídate mucho, adiós, cariño".

Un grito de socorro desde Juárez narra el infierno que la familia Van Nierop sufrió tras el asesinato de Hester en un hotel de la ciudad fronteriza en septiembre de ese mismo año. En un relato inquietante, la tragedia y el duelo personal confluyen con las acciones que Arsène ha llevado a cabo en búsqueda de justicia y contra la ineptitud de las autoridades mexicanas.

Las regalías recaudadas por la venta de este libro se destinarán a Casa Amiga, un centro de apoyo para mujeres y niños en Ciudad Juárez.

English Description

Hester, a 28-year-old Dutch girl in 1998, had just finished her degree in architecture. She left for Mexico a few weeks after graduating to meet up with Melisse, who was participating in a turtle conservation program on the Pacific coast. Their plan was to then travel to the United States to look for temporary work. For some inexplicable reason, they decided to cross by way of the dangerous Ciudad Juárez. Nobody imagined that her parents' farewell words would be the last they would say to her: "Goodbye, Hester, be careful. Goodbye, sweetie." A Cry for Help from Juárez tells of the hell that the Van Nierop family suffered after Hester's murder in a hotel in the border town during September of that same year. In this disturbing tale, tragedy and pain converge with the actions that Arsène has carried out in the search for justice, and against the ineptitude of the Mexican authorities.
