People need quality foods and products to live and be healthy, so why is it being denied so many places in the world. Why are costs soaring higher than ever for everything people need to live and eat and have shelter? Why is starvation and homelessness rising so high? Is it intentional, were the people of the world not promised that starvation would be a thing of the past if they had GMO, BT and other foods to feed the world? Then these foods rolled out, are doled out to disaster areas for relief, only to be loaded with toxins from the producers, and the world deserves an answer to stop this global genocide once and for all. This video is in a paperback format for your enjoyment and well being. Yes there are answers out in the world from caring people, you just have to look. For other selections of Organic Lifestyle Today find them on youtube and at fine book outlets.  Just because something is labelled organic, or non BT, non GMO, it can and often does contain unsafe toxins, approved by USDA in most cases. Organic is not always safe for human or other plants and animals, though in most cases it is and people are ethical and moral in the production of foods and products.
